SENATOR WEHRBEIN: I mean a minute, not five.

SENATOR MCKENZIE: Senator Wehrbein, let me see, how fast would you like me to talk? Here's what it basically does, most importantly, is it continues the current system we have under the 3 percent lid for the state appropriation, so that the funding system continues past what would have sunsetted in 1998. It also includes a couple of other areas that we thought would help deal with that cost containment issue as we continue to try to bring some level of cost containment to this whole area. In particular it requires the Department of Education to create the rules and regs and the procedures for verification of related services, it puts transportation in as a related service rather than a direct reimbursement, it creates a commission who will look at transition for children from 14 to 21 in a different method than an academic program, possibly a coordinated effort between what are developmental disability functions, and health and human service functions, and Department of Ed functions under Voc Rehab, and creates an assistive technology registry so we know where certain specialized, high-cost devices are for students across the state.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: Okay.

SENATOR MCKENZIE: I believe that's a pretty good...

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: That's very good. And most of that I caught. I was reading here and I thought there was going to be discussion, so I could have caught up. The real question I have is the 3 percent intended to be, at this point, indefinitely into the future? Three percent a year?

SENATOR MCKENZIE: At this point we put beginning in this year and continuing. We did not put a new sunset date in.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: So at this point it's ongoing at 3 percent.

SENATOR MCKENZIE: Correct.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: Thank you.
